THE PROTEUS AFFAIR.

A Pointed Letter From the Secretary of War.

Many Discrepancies in Garlington's Report Pointed Out—A Consultation With the President and With the Secretary of the Navy and a Court of Inquiry Ordered—Convincing—Interesting Developments Expected.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Secretary Lincoln has written a pointed letter to the Chief Signal Officer of the United States Army, in which he reviews at length his letter of the 10th inst., inclosing the report of Lieutenant Garlington upon the expedition sent to the Arctic seas for the relief of the Greely Expedition. He points out a number of discrepancies, and incloses them in tabular form. After criticizing the failure of Lieutenant Garlington to keep his ship, the Proteus, in company with the Yantic in God Haven, he says: "I am not satisfied with Lieutenant Garlington's explanation of the causes which led him into the very grave, and perhaps, fatal, error of going south from Littleton Island after the loss of the Proteus. If he had remained there, he would have been succeeded by the Yantic in eight days and a relief station for Lieutenant Greely's party would have been established. The loss of the Proteus would have been little more than an inconvenience. I can not understand how it was that, while, on July 22, on his way north, when in his own words, 'The weather was perfect, calm, warm, delightful.' There was no ice as far as could be seen from the crew's nest with the aid of a very powerful telescope, he felt so safe even away from all communication with the Yantic that he saw no need of making a base of supplies at Littleton Island, yet, four days later at the same place, he did not suppose the Yantic could get up to where he was and so put to sea with all his party in small boats in an Arctic ocean."

Secretaries Lincoln and Chandler held a lengthy conference with the President, the result of which was an order convening a Court of Inquiry in the case of Lieutenant Garlington. The board, which will meet here the 8th of November, 1883, will investigate the organization and fitting out of the Greely Relief Expedition, partly transported by the steamer Proteus, having particular reference to the orders and instructions issued for the guidance and government of the expedition, and the arrangements made for the aid from the Yantic. The Court will make a full and thorough investigation of all matters relating to the general conduct of the expedition, including particularly the failure of the Proteus to keep in company with the Yantic up to Littleton Island, or its neighborhood, and the failure to establish a well provided relief station at, or near, Littleton Island. The detail for the court is: Brigadier-General S. V. Benet, Chief of Ordnance; Col. R. B. Ayers, Second Artillery; Lieutenant-Colonel A. W. Poe, Corps of Engineers, and Major Henry Goodfellow, Judge Advocate, who will act as Recorder.

DISGRACEFUL AFFAIR.

Pennsylvania Politicians Indulge in a Street Fight at Reading.

READING, Pa., Nov. 1.—A sensation was created here yesterday afternoon when Congressman Emmentrout was beaten on the public street by George Smith, Jr., of Harrisburg, a prominent Democratic politician. It seems that the name of Hiram H. Schwartz, the Democratic candidate for Judge of the Orphans Court, was printed on the county ticket instead of being put separate as judiciary. Smith accused Emmentrout of having had this done purposely, to accomplish the defeat of Schwartz. High words ensued between the two, when James N. Emmentrout, a brother of the Congressman, struck Smith a blow in the face, drawing blood. Smith then attacked Emmentrout, when Sheriff Gehret, who was one of the witnesses to the affair, separated the two belligerents. Shortly thereafter the parties again met on the Court-house steps, when Smith struck Congressman Emmentrout knocking him down, when he was also kicked by one of the crowd. Emmentrout's face shows visible signs of the encounter. The whole affair, it seems, was indirectly brought about through certain letters on Berks county politics which have appeared from time to time in the Philadelphia Times. The excitement is high over the matter in political circles.

TWO HEAVY FIRES.

One Million Dollars Loss in Savannah and $100,000 in Norfolk, Va.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 1.—Fire broke out in Garnett, Stubbs & Co's warehouse at half-past 12 yesterday afternoon in which were 3,000 bales of cotton, all of which was destroyed. The flames spread from thence to the Joachim Farm Mill, Indiana and River street. The fire was checked when it reached West Broad street and Indian street. The electric light works and Tynan's Iron Foundry are among the principal places burned. The rice mills and the property on the north side of River street were saved. The most of the houses destroyed were of wood and occupied by poor people. It is impossible at this hour to give a correct estimate of the losses, but they are put down at about $1,000,000.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 1.—At 4 o'clock in the morning there was an accidental escape of oil at the Old Dominion Cereosoting Works, of which Edward R. Andrews is proprietor, at Money Point, a few miles up the river from here. The packing on the pressure pump became loose and let the oil escape, knocking over a lamp and taking fire at once. In a moment everything was in a blaze, and the entire works, including lumber and 60,000 barrels of cereosoting oil, were destroyed in a few minutes. Immense cylinders, one hundred feet long and six feet in diameter, exploded and disappeared. It is thought, in the river, 100 feet from the works. The total loss is estimated at $100,000.

"FRANK DUBOIS AND WIFE,"

The Female Husband and Girl Wife Create a Sensation.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Brandon, Wis., says Frank Dubois, the woman husband, with wife, arrived there last night, stopping at a private house in the suburbs. They were on the streets early this morning, followed by a large concourse of people. The wife and mother-in-law still persist that Frank is a man. The general theory is that Gertrude Fullersympathized with Mrs. Hudson's domestic troubles, agreed that the latter should assume the name of Dubois, and the couple live together as man and wife. Dubois smokes, chews, swears like a trooper, but looks very girlish.

Pennsylvania Politics.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 1.—Chairman Cooper, of the Republican State Committee, in response to the inquiry as to the prospects for success on Tuesday next, said: "Everything is encouraging; we are active and there is a great deal of work being done. I can't say anything more to-day than that matters look satisfactory everywhere." Chairman Hoessel, of the Democratic State Committee, when asked if there were any dissensions in the party, replied: "I know of no dissensions." Both parties can estimate that they will respectively carry the State by a small majority, but all signs indicate Democratic success.

Something New in Locomotives.

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—The Boston shops of the Boston and Albany Railway will soon complete a freight engine, with four cylinders, the first ever made in this country. There will be two small and two large cylinders, the former exhausting into the latter so as to utilize the steam after it has been once used. The engine will have big boilers and steam boxes, so as to carry 100 pounds of steam, the same as first-class passenger locomotives, but the drivers will be only four and one-half feet in diameter. Its workings will be closely watched by officials, and if the experiment turns out to be successful, the plan will be generally adopted.

Hunting a Murdered Man's Wife.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—John F. Symes, of No. 39 Barrow street, a friend of Amos C. Cheever, who on Sunday was found murdered near his farm house at Eastonsville, in Dingmans township, Pike county, Pa., called on Inspector Dilkes last night and asked for police aid to find Cheever's wife, who is supposed to be living in Brooklyn. Mr. Symes said that he did not believe that Mr. Cheever was aware of her husband's death. The Inspector promised to give Mr. Symes all the assistance at his command.

Victious College Idiots.

EAST HAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 1.—A few Whiston Seminary students, recently built a bonfire, and, desiring a roast pig, attempted to steal one from W. G. Taylor's drive. Taylor discovered them and a little struggle ensued, in which the boys assaulted Taylor but the latter let them off. The boys in revenge have attempted to burn Taylor's buildings. Two of them have been sent home and others are likely to follow.

A Life About a Hen.

MACHIAS, Me., Nov. 1.—It is reported that while pressing hay in the barn of Watson Gray, at Wesley, the other day, a live hen was found near the bottom of the mow, which had been buried there July 15, and had lived without food or water for seventy days. The hen was unable to walk for an hour, but then ran about as lively as ever.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 1.—Joe Holder, an industrious colored man, while herding hogs near Toombsborough, surprised a couple of negro desperadoes skulking one of his swine, which they had stolen. Both of the thieves fled in the swamp as he approached them. Going back to the settlement Holder enlisted the aid of a couple of white men in search for the culprits. The morning exploration proved fruitless, and the three men laid down beneath a tree at noon time and went to sleep. An hour later they were awakened by the firing of musketry, and found themselves attacked by five armed negroes. In the encounter which followed Holder and three of the robbers were almost instantly killed. The others were closely pressed at last accounts, and will doubtless be shot down.

A FATAL FROLIC.

NEWBERY, S. C., Nov. 1.—Henry Counts was stabbed to death at a "frolic" given at Melville Snigley's house. He was attempting to eject a drunken person from the house, when he was stabbed several times in the back. He cried out, "My God I am murdered!" whereupon the lights were suddenly extinguished. When order was restored and the lamps relighted, Counts was found lying on the floor in a pool of blood in a speechless condition. He died in about an hour. It is not known who did the cutting. The Coroner is investigating the matter.

HAMPTON, S. C., Nov. 1.—David Cook, a young man twenty-five years of age, was stabbed to death at a turpentine distillery in the lower part of this county, by Harvey F. Pope, who is about the same age as the deceased. The trouble grew out of the loss of a pistol belonging to Cook and which he claimed Pope had perjured. Cook was cut in ten places. Pope has a cut in his left hand which he says was inflicted by Cooke's knife, and that the killing was done in self-defense. Pope was committed for trial without bail.

The result of the investigation is to be reported to the Secretary of the Interior, together with the recommendation of the commissioner. A Million Dollars Depending on the Letter S.

Leonard Case, a millionaire old bachelor, charitable and eccentric, died in this city several years ago, leaving, besides a handsome legacy a school of applied science which bears his name, a large property for heirs and next of kin to quarrel over in the courts. One of the suits now pending in the Supreme Court, the court of last resort, hinges upon the appearance of the letter "s" in the statutes. The other descendants of Leonard Case's mother claim a share in the estate. The statutes provide that under certain contingencies the estate of a deceased person shall pass to the next of the blood of ancestors from whom the estate came. If the word "ancestors" is to be construed in its full force, the descendants of Mrs. Case can obtain their full share. On the other hand, it is claimed that the letter "s" at the end of "ancestors" crept into the statutes through the carelessness of some printer or proof reader. The case will be heard in the Supreme Court before long. The property involved is valued at $1,000,000.

For dand for sure he's got the boys
Just where the hair is short.

bank too heavily on a reduction in the price of insurance following the establishment of water works there. Maysville cannot speak of that experience
very enthusiastically.

The alarm of fire, Thursday afternoon,
was caused by a small blaze at the public

TO CAPTUS.

BY H. KYSS.

Bard of Washington, thy song,
Sung so loud and sung so long,
To these banal eyes of brown,
Has at last up-set the town;
For every girl with hazel eyes
Claims thee, Captus, as her prize.

Captus, since the days of old—
As by poets, we are told—
Since Ionia's foamy wave,
To the world, love's Goddess gave,
Many a hard has made his line,
Captus, so meow as in thine.

Yet, there's something sadly strange
In the way your metres change:
How very strange poetic feet
E'er should be so indiscreet
As to stagger; and 'tis best,
Now I think, to let them rest.

HAMBLE.

Two days of the great debate are already numbered with the cycles of the past, and still the interest increases. Theophile—the final arbiters of all matters—are undecided as to who is the victor. Just as it was in the days of the Apostles, when some were for Paul and some for Cephas, so we find some for Sweeney and others for Hamford, as it is called on the stage of Hamble. Arguments are met by arguments, wit by wit, ridicule by ridicule, and the dense and packed audience laugh and applaud by turns. Launch at high noon, exchange of views, then a return to witness the fray of the dancers, and go home
full of theology and amuse to be retold around the quiet hearthstone. The town is alive with dangers—distinguished ministers,
lawyers, ladies of great beauty and loveliness. Will try to list them in my next in my lieutenants report on time.

Kentucky Stone.

Lexington Transcript.

The use of Kentucky stone in the building of the court house has suggested a most important matter as to the future
architecture of our city; namely, that a house can be built out of stone more beautiful than the celebrated brown stone of the east, and at an expense that is nominally no more than that of brick.
The difference in cost of a building worth $96,000 as between brick and stone was only $1,500; so that in an ordinary business in this city, in the same proportion the difference ought not to be more than a hundred or two dollars. The reasons are obvious. The stone is easily accessible and so large a portion of the work can be done by machinery, while brick work is nearly all manual labor. It would seem that there is a magnificent opening for business for some man to start a stone saw mill here and furnish the sawed stone for all kinds of building
at prices that would pay him, and which it would appear he could easily show to the interest of builders to pay.
